My teachers give our base grades in pdf format. I have been using preview to make edits in text boxes or by adding my own drawings. The problem is that every time I do a new edition and save it, it gets rid of the other editions I've done. I can see my old editions when seeing earlier versions of the pdf, but I would like all my editions in a version. Any help would be appreciated! I receive many agreements, job checks, etc. in PDF that requires me to fill in our company information. I'm taking over from a gentleman who literally uses a typewriter to return these forms that look professionally (even though it looks like written shit). I want to direct the office to a more digital way of doing business. What is the best PDF viewer and the best way to edit PDF files for Mac? Adobe Reader? As for the above themes, some tools do not exist, many are around the $100 mark (which seems quite high, compared to the world of windows). I just need to do some basic text editing (like changing an address), nothing too crazy. Looks like I can use the built-in preview app to add annotation boxes, but if I want to edit a file, will it be $80-$120. Some missing recommendations my google-fu? Reddit, I need you help! I need (need, ladies and gentlemen – need!) a PDF editor that can stand out, make general annotations, add text directly in the PDF, and (this is extra, but it would be great) combine PDF files. Before you tell me to get Preview, Skim, Pdf Signer, or PDF Editor Pro, warning, I already have those, and I'm not a fan (though strangely enough, the free Preview is still my favorite). Help! Looks like there are no 100% free pdf editors out there? No open source. Some claim to be free, but when you try to do more than see a file you ask it to update. I am working with a large pdf file, I need something that can rearrange pages, delete pages, merge files, and compress the PDF to custom size. Any advice? I'm on Windows 10 for wayPage 2 28 comments I need to edit a document, very simple things like remove a line and etc, but I don't want to have to buy soft acrobat for $24 a month, is there any software I can use for it ? Page 2 9 comments I want to add bookmarks to my pdf files, but every application i try keeps adding watermarks. Can anyone suggest to me a good free pdf editor for the macbook pro without watermarks? (sad for my poor English) Page 2 12 comments Hello, Redditors! I've been on this website for a while as an ordinary user, like discussing news and laughing with funny photos. And as a member of this community, I understand that we all hate any kind of sales here. Therefore, I will be honest with I work for Readdle (we develop iOS and OSx applications) and today I created the acc of my company. You must have heard of Spark Mail, PDF Expert, Documents, Calendars 5, Scanner Pro and Printer Pro. Therefore, these are all our children. Every now and then, I see posts about our applications and I will try to answer your questions more and tell you or crazy discounts. Now I really need some help from you, people, because Reddit proved to always be a source of beautiful ideas for me. Maybe, you know about my only OS X application so far – Expert Pdf for Mac. I'm glad you could give some of your comments: what do you like about this, what's not, what do you need? Maybe you're using another app (like Adobe Acrobat) and really enjoy it or want to try PDF Expert but something stops it. How do you work with PDF on your Mac? I would appreciate any thoughts. And in my turn, I promise to honestly answer all your questions about PDF Expert itself or any of our other applications. Try? :)Page 2 33 comments Hello, Looking for an Adobe or Nitro Pro alternative that is affordable and reliable to do a lot, very basic .pdf edition. The most important features are adding or deleting pages, adding signatures, annotations, editing text, and (ideally) adding page numbers.
